

Firenock Review by Luis Nevett, June 1, 2008

Lightning Nock GSH (LG)

I have like the idea of lighted nocks a lot, and I consider myself a budget mind guy, so I went and bought all the parts in order to make some homemade lighted nocks, well after some good bucks spend and NO working lighted nock on my hands, I switched strategies. I persuade one of my friends into buying one the medium price nocks on the market (he has lost some $ on the home made ones too) it lasted a couple of shots and quit working. Finally I bought two Lighting Nocks™ from the Firenock™ web page.

It has been over a month since I receive them, and so far I have used only one and I am IMPRESSED. They are easy to assemble and the best part is that once you assemble it and put on your shaft, you just forget it!!! You shot and they will turn on, every time, after that a small bump on the nock and the shut off. No moving parts, no glue, nothing to attach to your rest, no magnets, and the best part, no worries on your head.

I have shot it over a hundred times and, so far, it has worked perfectly! It has helped me correct my form and follow through on the long distance shot.

Can't wait to try them on a hunting situation.

Luis Nevett

Incover-shell@yahoo.com