

Firenock Review by Mathew Futtere, July 6, 2008 on ArcheryTalk.com
Firenock GSH (GS)

Firenocks hands down both old and new ones! I rely on being able to show my customers EXACTLY where my broadheads hit...all others were unreliable...and of course Mr. Murphy usually reared the ugly head when the big buck or largest boar hog was shot and the "Lighted Nock" FAILED! I lost valuable footage for marketing. I got so frustrated I began developing my own with my electronics background...that is until I met Dorge at a trade show....Suffice it to say...I have not EVER had a Firenock fail to light up nor stay lit...even when my wife shot thru the shoulders of a deer and slammed deep into an oak tree! Well engineered...now no magnets...perfect...others just can't compete with what Dorge has developed! The best part besides the reliability? They are SO BRIGHT...you easily see them on the brightest of days!

Matthew Futtere
Arrowdynamic Solutions