

Firenock Review by Mike Smyser, 8th September 2008

Firenock GSH, GST (SU)

I was interested in a light up nock for a big hunt I have. I read several reviews and sent an email to firenock with a couple of questions. My questions were answered and I also received a phone call from Dorge who was very helpful.

I placed my order on Wednesday and awaited my order. I received my order Friday and was very excited to try them. I arrived home late that night and put a couple together. The packaging and parts all seemed to be top quality. The nocks went together without a hitch. The O ring that goes on the unit did not fit snug inside the shaft of my Gold tip XT. I am not sure if they need to, or I just need a larger size. The nocks fit snug and I was ready to give them a try.

It was 10 pm so I pointed a flashlight on my block target about 30 yards away. I could see my pins from the porch light. I shot several times, they worked perfect every time. It was really cool looking at night. They looked like a laser shooting.

I tried them again the next afternoon at about 2pm. It was a very bright sunny day in Az. During the bright sunlight shooting the red nocks was difficult to see much difference. Granted hunting shots will almost never be in bright sunlight in the middle of the day.

I put some of the practice nocks with weights on and a white target nock. I have shot several times with this configuration. When shooting any time except with the sun directly above I could easily see the nock. They work great and make practice more fun. The weighted nocks impact the same as the lighted nocks.

note: Mike have order a special pack that have 5 hunting circuit and only 1 target circuit (a special SU pack I made for him)

I shot tonight late and they helped extend my practice time. With one in the center of my block I shoot well into the dim sunset. I was shooting at 50 and 60 yards in my horse arena. A neighbor came by and watched for a while. It is really cool to watch them fly. I think it will also help to pick up any erratic arrow flight.

I would definitely recommend this product. I think the quality is excellent and they work perfect every time as advertised. I ordered more of the hunting nocks and only one practice (target circuit). In hind sight the practice nocks are nice you do not have to turn them off. I shoot a lot almost every day if I am getting ready for a hunt. I was assured by Dorge if I have any problems even if I Robin Hood one I can send it in for $10 I will get a new one. I think in the long haul they will be a far better value than some of the cheaper brands. I always go for quality and seldom regret it. I have purchased cheaper end products and it seems I always regret it and end up spending more in replacements.

If you are looking at getting some light up nocks you will not be disappointed with firenock.

Good luck and good hunting

Mike Smyser