

Firenock Review by David Marcum, October 17, 2008

Firenock GSH (S1)

Why I consider Firenocks are so good? I have shot 4 deer with the same Firenock and it has still lit up on everyone of my shots, I have never shot one that has not lit up. As much time in effort that goes into making a Firenock is priceless. They are worth every dollar for them. As i was told when you shoot a lighted nock you want it to light up every shot. You dont want something that only going to work 2 out of 5 times. i have shot other nocks around but i will never go back to any of them other guys. the only nock you will see on my arrow is a Firenock.

What else is good about these nock. They are unbreakable. When i turn off the light i drop it on my driveway and over 100 times and they are still holding strong. I personally dont think you can get that out of anyother nock out there.
