

Firenock Review update by Court Brewer, 22th January, 2009
Lightning Nock LG, Firenock GS

After making several homebrew nocks I finally decided they were too much trouble and ordered the lighting nocks. After seeing how well they were made and how bright they were I ordered the Firenocks. I can honestly say it was the best money I have ever spent. They are the brightest most reliable nocks on the market and even show up in my video in the day time. I am heading to mountain lion hunting as soon as New Mexico gets snow and you can bet that I will be launching one at a big tom on video. Hopefully it won't go too far and I can find it. Then taking them to Quebec on a bear hunt in may! I wouldn't even think about hunting much less filming with out them. Thanks for the best lighted nock on the market. I am a customer for life.
